

CLAIMS:

What is claimed is:

1. A pet pad with recorder and playback unit comprising:

(a) a pad of soft material sized to fit a particular pet having a top surface and a bottom surface, being generally flat and also a definite thickness;

(b) a heavy plastic pocket fixably attached inside said bottom surface of said pad with an overlapping slit opening;

(c) a record and playback unit inserted through said overlapping slit in said pocket comprising a voice recorder, a message player that has automatic shut-off and rewind capability after a message has been played, a pressure sensing switch for activating said message player each time a pet lies on said pet pad, a recording switch member to record new messages, and is battery powered.

2. A pet pad with recorder and playback unit as defined in claim 1 whereby said pet pad includes a removably disposed cover member that is easily removed for cleaning.